Alliance Baseball Team Will Play Mitchell Sunday

The Alliance baseball team, winners of seven games and losers of none will mix with the Mitchell, Platte Valley league team, Sunday. The Mitchell team was one of the fastest in the league, finishing fourth. This team has defeated the leaders in the league, Bayard, the team which put up such a good game against the locals Sunday.

Another feature which should attract the fans from all over this section of the country has been arranged by Manager Harold Snyder. Johnny King, formerly of the Chicago Cubs, Denver Western league team, and other fast professional organizations will be on the mound for Alliance. King was one of the classic hitters in the old Western league, and also made a big hit with the Cubs. He is reported to have more "stuff" than ever, and will in all probability pitch a game such as is seldom seen in this section of the country.

Manager Harold Snyder asks for better support for the team, the crowds at the last few games, while fair, are far from satisfactory. The players who are working hard to make a winning team are becoming discouraged with the lack of support shown. With an undefeated team such as the Alliance aggregation the games should be attended by at least 2,000 people. With an attraction such as is offered Sunday the largest crowd of the season is expected.

A Good Lineup of County League Games Booked for Sunday

After three defaults last Sunday due to withdrawal, other events and rain, the county league teams are again ready for action, with the possible exception of the Marple aggregation, which seems to be definitely out of the league.

Lawn will mix with the Red Sox at the Red Sox diamond. The Red Sox have recently undergone a reorganization which seems to have improved them greatly, and there is little doubt that the Lawn team will have their hands full. Lawn is well up in the standing and has been playing good ball. This should make a real game.

Fairview, another recently rejuvenated team, will play Pleasant Hill. Pleasant Hill has also been going at a much faster pace than usual lately, taking the Nonpareil outfit into camp, 19 to 2, in an exhibition game. These teams on paper, at least seem to be evenly matched and should put up a real battle. The game will be at Pleasant Hill.

Snake Creek, the fast second place team, will play at Ash Grove, another speedy aggregation. The Snake Creek team, with the exception of Berea, has not lost a game, and has been playing a good brand of ball all season. Ash Grove has given trouble to every team yet played and will make the Snake Creek crew step to win.

Berea will probably have an idle Sunday, as Marple is booked to mix with them. The Marple crew has not played for the past few Sundays and there seems to be little chance of their return to the league. Another team, probably the Nonpareil willow-wielders will probably take their place, and may get into action by next Sunday.

The whole line-up, with the exception of the probable default, is unusually good and this Sunday's game should be attended better than any all season.

Fairview Accepts Challenge for Tug-of-War From Pleasant Hill

The Fairview local Farmers' Union has accepted the challenge of the Pleasant Hill union, hurled via the Herald to the entire county. The contest is slated to take place at the Fourth of July celebration at Alliance. The Pleasant Hill team, headed by William Abrams, is reported to have a crew composed of men weighing over 200 pounds. No definite dope is available on the Fairview crew, but they evidently know what they can do when they accept the challenge of such a team as the Pleasant Hill crew. The number of men on the team, method of pulling, etc., will be arranged later, when the two teams get together. Let's go.

They have appropriated $500,000 to catch war grafters. That's about 10 cents per grafter.—Newspaper Enterprise Association.

Tennis Tournament Will Start About Sixth of July

The city tennis tournament will be played soon according to plans now made by the members of the Tennis club, who are sponsoring the event. Play in the first round of the tournament will start Thursday, July 6, and will run through until about Wednesday, July 12, when the finals will be played.

Suitable prizes will be offered. The winner's prize will be offered. This will be the best that can be obtained. Other prizes will be offered for the runner-up, and the winner of the consolation round of this feature is included.

The tournament will be played on the courts of the Tennis club, just west of the Ford garage. These are being put in best shape for the tournament, and will be in fine shape for the event. The courts will be taken care of by the Tennis club during the tournament and will be kept in shape and freshly mowed.

A doubles tournament will be played after the singles if enough interest is shown and there are enough teams to make such an event practicable.

About thirty players are expected to enter as there are more than this number of tennis players in the town. A large entry list is desired as the tournament cannot be a success unless this is done. During the week the courts will be thrown open to all those who wish to practice, although proper care will be demanded. This will be a week for all tennis enthusiasts, for even if a man is defeated, he will be able to play in the consolation round, and have all the friendly matches he desires with some friend. One court will probably be reserved for match play, and the other used for practice games. This will be done in order that one may be kept in perfect shape, and also that no tournament match may be delayed.

An entrance fee of fifty cents will be charged to all entries. Those who desire to enter may leave their names at the Herald office or at Holsten's drug store. Let's go and make this a real week of tennis.

Boxers Will Arrive Saturday for the Legion Boxing Show

The battlers, who will take part in the Legion's boxing show at the Roof Garden, July 4, will arrive Friday night or Saturday morning and will work out Saturday at the Armory, where anyone who wishes may watch them. Gilmore and Flynn, the principals, will arrive Saturday and will work out sometime that afternoon. Battling Anderson, who will mix with Smiling Dotson in the semi-windup will be watched with interest by the local fans, who want to see how tough a man Dotson will have to take on.

The local scrappers, Dotson, O'Connor and Forine have been working out at the Armory for some time. They are all getting into splendid condition, and will put up the best that is in them. O'Connor is now completely over the eye trouble that kept him participating in the last show, when he was slated to box "Cowboy" Wyland.

Fight manager George Madsen announces that the advance ticket sale is far beyond that of any previous fight, and that he believes that this show will draw the largest attendance of any so far. He believes that this is easily the best show yet put on, although each of the previous shows has pleased the fans greatly.

Tennis Courts Being Worked On For Approaching Tourney

The courts of the Alliance tennis club are now being put into shape for use during the city tournament, to be played about the middle of August. The court, since the last rain, has been dragged, leveled, and generally worked over to put it in the best shape. Some clay is being hauled in to fill a few low spots which have developed since the completion of the court last spring. The courts are among the best in this part of the state, and an effort will be made to bring the western Nebraska tournament here next year, because of this.

SUSPICIONS AROUSED

Prospects Favor Railroad Strike Beginning July 1

A strike of more than 1,000,000 union railroad employees will begin July 1, unless railroad executives agree to negotiate with union heads towards a settlement of their disputes before that time.

This ultimatum was delivered to the railroads in a long telegram from Bert M. Jewell, president of the railway employees' department of the American federation of labor to T. De Witt Cuyler of New York, chairman of the association of railway executives. It followed a two-day session of the executive council committee composed of the international presidents of the rail unions, and of the general policy committee of ninety district chairmen which canvassed the strike vote and found it to be overwhelmingly in favor of a walkout.

Hope for Peace Blasted
The announcement practically destroyed the last vestige of hope for peace, as there is believed to be little likelihood that carriers will consider opening negotiations.

Renouncing result of such negotiations, unions demand continuation of wages now in force, restoration of working rules abrogated by recent labor board decisions and discontinuation of contracting out shop work.

The strike, which Jewell advises the carriers will be "unavoidable" unless these demands are granted at once, will include the shop crafts unions, the maintenance of way unions, the railway signal men, and the stationary firemen. Estimates place the number of men affected at close to 1,200,000.

July 1, date set for the walkout, is the day when wage cuts on these elements of railroad labor become effective. Jewell's message to Cuyler, which is admittedly sent for the purpose of making clear to the railroads and the public "the measure of your responsibility," takes up the railroad disputes and the developments in the situation, during the past two years, and charges that the railroad managements "use or violate the transportation act as suits their purposes and is to their advantage."

Railroads moved to place all shopwork under the contract system, in case of a strike.

A strike, railroad officials believe, will give them the opportunity, long sought, to place their shopwork with contractors.

This is opposed by the United States railroad labor board, but the executives claim the men by striking will violate the board's ruling first, and to meet the situation, they will be entitled to extend the contract system. It was learned on good authority that union leaders would meet half way any concessions granted by railroad executives. The general impression, however, was that railroads would refuse to comply with any demands made.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

(Omaha World-Herald)

Insurance has become as much of a fashion as have vacations. Both of those fashions are of good report and receive the serious consideration of wise men and women. They are subject to one's circumstances, of course. But the worth of each is being appreciated more every year.

The amount of insurance in force on the lives of persons residing in America on December 31, 1921, was $45,578,876,667. That amount divided among our population gives about $400 to each person. Yet the premium on $400 is only a trifle.

But that is something, although not enough.

Nebraskans carry about $650 insurance for each man, woman and child resident. It is of incalculable worth to the state as well as to the individuals insured and the beneficiaries that investments are increasing in insurance securities. Now that mathematics and laws have made life insurance an exact science, little argument is needed to persuade wise men and women of its value.

Like the practice of recreation and of taking sufficient rest to accomplish the maximum of work, we are learning to prepare against the day of old age, infirmity and bereavement with mathematics of the golden rule. It may require a little sacrifice to carry a few thousand dollars life insurance. But it is just the obligation which each person owes to himself or herself and to any dependents to make reasonable provision.

More than $9,000,000,000 of new insurance was issued by the leading companies last year. Were you among the provident ones? Perhaps you are carrying enough. Perhaps not. And maybe you have no insurance.

It is something worth while thinking about these days when one would forget the heat. Peace of mind and confidence of the future may be increased by a manipulation of your income so that you can carry adequate insurance. And a degree of assurance can be enjoyed the year through because of provision made in this way.

Murphy: "Sure, I would have, only I didn't have any place to lock ye up myself."

Nash's DELICIOUS Coffee

Have you tried it yet? If not, you're denying yourself the fullest measure of coffee enjoyment.

Truly, coffee-making has been revolutionized by Nash's Delicious Coffee—the last word in coffee blending—a blend of selected altitude grown coffees—a blend based on exhaustive studies and tests—a blend so nicely balanced that it neutralizes hard or alkaline water and makes a smooth, rich, satisfying and refreshing brew, whether you use hard or soft water. It takes the gamble out of coffee-making.

Only a few of the thousands of offerings from coffee plantations pass our tests and meet our strict requirements for Nash's Delicious Coffee. That's how good it is. Your coffee taste will tell you. You'll be proud to serve it to the most critical coffee drinkers.

Unusual care is also exercised in every step of roasting, steel-cutting, air-cleaning and packing this perfected blend. It's always the same.

No chaff or coffee dust—no bitterness.

Its crispy, "hot roasted" freshness is retained in the hermetically sealed, moisture-proof container.

At your grocers—in one and three-pound containers. Try it for breakfast tomorrow.
